Continue to Pray & I Continue to Pour Out

Sustaining Bread, Vol. 2, Issue 1, p. 38, printed in 2000

I say continue steadfast in the prayers and supplications that I have asked of thee, and I say do not waver but I say be a steadfast people. For I say that as you continue to pray, I continue to open up and I say that I continue to pour out the waters of my river. I say unto thee look to me continually in your prayers, look to me and seek me, for I say that I alone am the strength of my people. I say this day as ye would go forth, I say go forth rejoicing in me, for I say truly I do strengthen light and glory unto thee. And I say even though the world would be gloomy, I say do not take on their gloominess, for I say that I am thy joy and thy strength. I say that I am thy tower and thy glory, take not on the rudiments of the world, but take on me. For I shall keep thee in my perfect peace, and I shall lead thee forth by a plain path. Again I would say this day, be giving thanks, be rejoicing, be yielding yourselves unto me, be trusting me for I say that I am thy maker.

Never-ending River of Life

Sustaining Bread, Vol. 2, Issue 7, p. 7, printed in 2001

...I speak to thee and I say my life is never ending, my life is abundant, my supply is endless unto those who will obey. I say do not operate against my principles and expect to make progress, but I say operate according to the principles that I give thee and thy progress will be great. I say will thy will to count thyself as dead, I say will thy will to count thyself as unworthy, I say will thy will to develop zeal to dying out and I say you will find the inflow of my life does not cease but it flows in and flows in and flows in. For I say that I am the never ending river of life. For this rejoice my people, give thanks, be glad.

Cleansing Waters

Next 3 excerpts: Sustaining Bread, Vol. 2, Issue 8, pp. 16-17, 27, 30, printed in 2001

I speak unto thee and I say thank me for the washing of my Word, I say thank me that I am the river of life and that I come to thee. For I say unto thee that my water is able, I say my water is able to purify and sanctify. I say thank me for the river of my water that does come. For I say unto thee that I shall draw many into the river and they shall be cleansed, they shall be sanctified. Though they be filthy and impure, I say that I shall wash them. I say rejoice for the rejoicing that is found in me. I say rejoice for the rejoicing that is found in me, for truly I speak unto thee and I say when you yield yourselves over unto the rivers of my Word, I say there is no end to the rejoicing that does come. For I say that I shall cause my people to be made new, yeah I say I shall cause them to be cleansed. Yeah, I say that I shall cause them to be made whole, I say rejoice this day my people that I have called thee to partake of the water and proclaim my waters. I say that I have called thee to call other men into the river of life. I say rejoice my people and be glad. For I speak unto thee and I say that my waters are unquenchable in that they will come forth and men will be cleansed. Therefore I say be glad, be glad, be glad this day for the waters of my Word that do come. For I say though my Word may start out in a small stream, I say it shall grow unto a vast river and I say many shall come unto the same and be sanctified. I say rejoice, rejoice, rejoice for my waters for they cleanse.

Waters of Restoration

I speak unto thee, I say will you not rejoice that I am the restorer of life, will ye not rejoice that I am the one who causes to live again that which is dead? I say will ye not rejoice that it is me, the Living God who has given the life unto thee? I say will ye not likewise let the life flow out unto others that I have given unto thee? I say will ye not rejoice that I am the endless life to my people? I speak unto thee this day, I say thank me that I am the eternal God, there is none like unto me. Thank me that those who shall come into my river, I say they shall receive the waters of restoration. I say rejoice in me this day that I am the righteous God, the one true God the God who does prevail. I say thank me this day, thank me this day, thank me this day, I say let thy testimony be thanksgiving, I say let thy testimony be thanksgiving.

I Am the (Pure) River of Life

I speak unto thee I say that I am the river of life, there is none like unto me. I say when you will drink of me, I say ye shall live. I say when you will wash in me, I say that you will live. I say unto thee my people that I am the river of life, I say rejoice for the waters that I give unto thee. I say tell others likewise, proclaim the truth, that I am the river of life. I say men seek for the rivers, I say they seek for the waters, they seek in vain. For I speak unto thee and I say there is none like unto me, I am the river of life. I say men wash themselves in filthy and polluted waters, I say they seek for spiritual experience but they seek in vain. For I speak unto thee and I say the waters they wash in are polluted, they are contaminated, I say they are filthy and vile. But I say unto thee that I am the river of life, those who shall come unto me I say they shall be cleansed, they shall be healed, I say their thirst shall be quenched. For I say the waters that I have they are the waters of eternity, I say they never end, I say that I am the river of life. I speak unto thee this day I say rejoice that you are privileged to receive those waters, for I say that I have given them unto thee freely. I say drink of the water, wash in the water, proclaim the water, for I say unto thee that I am the river of life.

Increase of Waters; River Children Shall Come Forth

Next 3 excerpts: Sustaining Bread, Vol. 2, Issue 9, pp. 10-11, 16, 39, printed in 2001

I speak unto thee, I say cannot I the Living God pour forth the waters? Cannot I the Living God open up the waters unto my river to let it flow forth? I say that I can. Therefore I speak unto thee this day, I say know that the increase does come, for it is me the Living God who shall pour forth the waters, yeah I say the river of life cometh forth. I say shall it not increase if I the Living God deem it to be so? I say that it shall flow forth, I say that my river children shall come forth, for I say I speak it and it is. Therefore I say rejoice in me this day, I say that I am the river of life, I say rejoice that the waters of my Word do flow forth. I say thank me this day that it is me the Living God who bringeth the increase. I say rejoice my people, be glad, rejoice my people be glad.

Rejoice When My River Would Flow

I speak unto thee, I say quench not my Spirit, but let my Spirit have its way. For I say in the Spirit there is life. I speak unto thee this day, I say do not attribute the things carnal as the things that matter but know that it is the things that transpire in my Spirit, they are the everlasting things. Therefore I say quench not my Spirit, I say forbid not prophesying, but I say let my Spirit flow in thy midst. For I speak unto thee and I say when my Spirit has its way, I say then are men transformed and brought forth. I speak unto thee I say rejoice that it is me the Living God who does give my Spirit without measure unto thee. Therefore I say rejoice when my Spirit would come in thy midst, rejoice when my river would flow, I say rejoice when I the Living God would cry out through the agonies of my Spirit. For I speak unto thee and I say that when my Spirit does have its way then are men brought forth. I say then are children born into the Kingdom. I say this day, rejoice that you are a Spirit led people, rejoice that my Spirit does reign triumphant over thee. I say rejoice that I lead thee forth in the newness of life of who I am. I say give me thanks, I say give thanks, give me praise. For indeed, I speak unto thee my people, I say you are privileged to partake of the life of my Spirit, I say do not quench that life.

Spirit Poured Out in Rivers

I speak unto thee I say remain needy of me, remain needy in spirit, and I say that I fill thee. For indeed I say it gives me pleasure to pour myself out upon my people. And when my people shall cry out unto me, shall not I the Living God fill my people again and again and again? I say that I shall. Therefore I would speak unto thee, I say remain needy of me, for I am thy God, thy maker, thy source, thy King. I say when you will cry out, I say that I fill thee. I say that the day is coming when I shall pour forth my Spirit in rivers, yeah rivers of living waters, and I say there will be many who have been athirst and they shall run unto the waters, they shall drink, they shall be satisfied. For I say that it is me the Living God who shall pour out those waters. But I say that if you do not hope in me and if you do not remain in me, you shall not see that day. For I will keep it from thee. But I say the ones who will remain true in spirit, I say they shall see that day, for I will cause it to be so. I say rejoice even this night that it is me the Living God who does reward the true, who does reward the faithful. I say keep thy confidence and thy hope in me, I say those who fall apart are the ones who trust in circumstance, but I say the ones who trust in me, they shall be firm as the rock is firm, they shall remain standing. I say rejoice this night that you are privileged to have your confidence in me, the Living God, that you are privileged to believe in me beyond all else, that you are able to trust me. I say rejoice, rejoice, rejoice for everything that I take thee through that causes thee to trust me more. For I say truly if I did not test thee and try thee, you would not know what it is to have thy trust proven. But I say when I test and try thee, then is thy trust and thy confidence in me sure. Rejoice this night for the way that I lead thee, for the way that I take thee, I say remain needy of me and I shall fill thee.

Don't Hold Back the Rivers

Next 3 excerpts: Sustaining Bread, Vol. 2, Issue 10, pp. 14, 41, 44, printed in 2001

I speak unto thee I say do not hold back the rivers of my Holy Ghost, for I say unto thee that I put my Spirit within thee to flow out. Yeah, I say that I have put the Spirit within thy belly that you could flow out with rivers of living water. Therefore I speak unto thee, I say do not hold back the rivers but let them flow forth from thee. For indeed I speak to thee, I say I have called thee to be my people, I say I have called thee to walk in Spirit. I say continually seek to come forth in the Spirit, I say continually seek to be developed in Spirit that my rivers may flow through thee. For I speak unto thee and I say that I choose to work through men, I say I choose to work through men, I say let me work through thee. I say let the move of my Spirit transpire within thee and without of thee, I say let it come forth. I say rejoice even this day that you are fully baptized in me and that you are brought forth in my anointing. I say rejoice my people, be glad, give me the thanks.

Cry Out for the River to be Opened

I speak unto thee and I would say, continue to cry out unto me, continue to cry out unto me and to believe me and know that I am the Living God and that I am well able. I say unto thee that which I purpose I shall bring about, and that which I desire I say I shall see. For I say unto thee that I am the Living God and I say that my promises stand. I say trust in me and believe me, and know that which I purpose for thee, shall come. I say when you will continue in obedience, that I the Lord thy God will pour out upon thee and I say continue to cry out unto me that the river will be opened, and I say that I shall open my river. For I say that my waters shall pour forth, I say do not doubt me but continue to believe me. For I say unto thee that when you will doubt, I say you will shut off the flow from your own selves. But I say when you will believe, I say there is nothing impossible with me. I say that I am the infinite, I say that I am endless. I say rejoice that you are privileged to partake of me.

Ye Shall See My River Flow and Flow

I say when my people will walk with me I say they are blessed. But I say when my people seek to oppose me and oppose my ways, I say then are they clothed in cursings, for I say the cursedness will come upon them, and I say then they shall be clothed in cursings. I say unto thee, seek to bless me, I say seek to rejoice in me, seek to receive the blessedness I have prepared for thee, as the wise will seek me with all of their hearts. For I say they realize that the wisdom will come of me and the goodness will come of me and the mercy will come of me. I say my beloved, seek me with all of your hearts that you may receive the goodness that I have prepared, that the blessedness may come and come and come to thee. For I say indeed it gives me pleasure to show forth my goodness, to show forth my blessedness, to show forth my mercy. I say thank me that I the Lord thy God do lead thee in a plain path, and it is the pathway of my peace and the pathway of my hope. I say thank me that there is none other who leads thee, but I lead thee. I say thank me that I am thy strength and thy glory. I say look not unto the left nor right, but look unto me, I say look unto me continually and draw the source that I am. For I say that I am the infinite source, the endless source, I say that I am the life and the glory. I say rejoice in me and be exceeding glad for I say that I move by the power of my Spirit. I say indeed ye shall see my river flow and flow and flow. It shall never cease flowing. I say you shall see my goodness pour out, and it shall never cease pouring. For I say unto thee that I am the endless and the infinite God and I say those who shall desire me shall behold me. I say rejoice my beloved for there shall be many who will not behold me for they do not desire me. But I say those who desire me they shall behold me, for I shall come.

The Beginning of My Spirit River

Next 2 excerpts: Sustaining Bread, Vol. 2, Issue 12, pp. 21, 30-31, printed in 2001

I speak unto thee this day I say it is no mistake that I the Living God have set thee in the midst of the heathen. For I speak unto thee and I say it is symbolic that I have set thee in the midst of the heathen lands. Yeah that I have set thee in the midst of the ancient heathen lands, for I speak unto thee and I say that it is a new beginning, it is the beginning of my Spirit river, it is the beginning of my Spirit people, it is the beginning of my Spirit life. And I say that it is me, the Living God who has set thee in the midst of the same, that is the ancient heathen. And I say unto thee that you shall rejoice and be glad when you see my power manifest. For I say there are no mistakes in me, there are no mistakes in what I do, and though the witchcraft is all about thee, I say that the Spirit of my Light is not quenched. For I say that I the Living God have raised myself up in the midst of thee and I say I pour forth my glory. Therefore I say rejoice for my positioning of thee, for there are no mistakes in me, and I say it is me the Living God who has purposed thee in this land. It is me, the Living God who has purposed thee in this cradle, yeah it is me, the Living God who has established thee. Therefore I say greatly rejoice for I say I bring forth light in the midst of darkness, yeah heathen darkness, ancient darkness, I say I bring forth my light. For this rejoice and be glad.

Life Brought Forth Through the Waters

I speak unto thee and I say that which is dead do not I the Living God cause it to live? I say that which is dried up, do not I the Living God cause it to live? I say that through the waters of my Word, through the waters of my Spirit, I bring forth life. Therefore I say do not doubt me but believe me, know that I am well able. For I say that which I created, can I not cause it to spring to life? I say that I can. Therefore I say do not doubt me, but believe me. I say look not upon the dryness and the stagnation and the deadness of men, but look unto me for I am the one who brings the life. I say men aside from me are as grass, I say they wither and die, they are dead, but I say through me they may be turned green, they may be full of the vibrancy of my life. I say it is my Spirit that contains the life. It is not men who are alive, but it is my Spirit that is alive. Therefore I say do not look at the dead grass and be defeated, but look to me and know that I am the Living God. I say look to me and know that I may send the waters of my Word, the waters of my Spirit, and cause even the dead to live.
